Slimbolics Unveils Revolutionary New Weight Loss Aid That's Safe, Effective

All-Natural Gel Curbs Craving for Sweets, Eases Feeling of Being Hungry

NEW HOPE, PA., June 18, 2009 – Slimbolics today unveiled a new and powerful weight-loss product that is effective and safe enough for the whole family to use. Slimbolics contains a unique combination of fruit- and plant-based oils that act as a metabolic catalyst to quell hunger pangs while simultaneously curbing the desire for sweets.

“There is nothing like this available anywhere,” said Ed McCusker, president and CEO of Slimbolics. “These oils have been used individually for years to aid in weight loss; we've combined them to create a comprehensive weight-loss supplement that will begin showing results in weeks.”

The patent-pending Slimbolics formula works by coating the taste buds and sending signals to the brain that trick it into believing its cravings are being satisfied. It was developed by Jackie McCusker, Ed's wife, to quell both her and her daughter's desires for junk food. They both enjoyed over indulging in fattening foods and needed a product that was all natural and didn't require mixing, counting points, or eating bland prepared foods to help them refrain from reaching for the high calorie foods. “Exercise is not something we enjoy. We needed something that was small; compact that didn't need to be refrigerated and could easily fit in our pocket. We needed a substitute for the junk food. Slimbolics gives us the immediate satisfaction we desire” said Jackie McCusker.

A month's supply of Slimbolics costs $19.95 and customers can buy a years' supply for $145, a savings of nearly 40 percent. Slimbolics is guaranteed to spur weight loss or customers' money will be refunded.

Slimbolics customers simply put a drop of the gel on their tongues when they experience food cravings, and the potent formula relieves the desire to eat. “The gel itself has a refreshing taste that sends signals to various parts of the brain, kick-starting the weight-loss cycle,” said McCusker.

In particular, Slimbolics is safe enough for children to use. According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 16 percent of U.S. children, more than 9 million, are overweight or obese -- a number that has tripled since 1980. In addition, another 15 percent are considered at risk of becoming overweight.

“We all want to do what's best for our children,” said McCusker. “Slimbolics helped our daughter get her weight under control, and we know it can do the same for the millions of children who are struggling with their weight.”
