Slimbolics Signs Marketing Contract for Its Revolutionary Weight Loss Aid

DMT Products to Grow Customer Base for Unique All-Natural Gel

NEW HOPE, PA and LOUISVILLE, KY, Aug. 3, 2009 – As part of its nationwide rollout, Slimbolics has signed an agreement with DMT Products to bring its unique, family-friendly weight-loss product to stores across the country.

“Being overweight is often a family problem, and Slimbolics provides a solution that the entire family can participate in,” said Jackie McCusker, who developed the product to quell her and her daughter’s desires for junk food. They needed a product that was all natural and didn’t require mixing, counting points, or eating bland prepared foods to help them refrain from reaching for high-calorie foods.

Slimbolics, which fits into a purse or pocket for easy use while on the go, provides immediate satisfaction for hunger cravings. Slimbolics contains a unique combination of fruit- and plant-based oils that act as a metabolic catalyst to quell hunger pangs while simultaneously curbing the desire for sweets.

“Because Slimbolics is safe for the entire family to use, we think it is a product that should be readily available nationwide,” said Tim Ridgeway, president of DMT Products. “I’m impressed because Slimbolics is one of the few weight-loss products that is safe for our at-risk teens and pre-teens.”

According to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, 16 percent of U.S. children, more than 9 million, are overweight or obese -- a number that has tripled since 1980. In addition, another 15 percent are considered at risk of becoming overweight.
